to me

Thank you for sharing! The reason I ask is because as such a small team, we currently only have the legal capacity to review and sign district-wide privacy policies for our school subscriptions. I do not recognize the schools listed in Exhibit B, so unfortunately we're unable to sign at this time. If you schools interested in using ClassEquity, please feel free to share our school subscription page here!

In the meantime, ClassEquity can be used without entering student PII. For student accounts, all that is required is first name, last name, and username, (we do not save passwords on our database for extra security). As anything can be entered into these fields, teachers can use placeholder names without student information, such as Blue Fish, username bluefish1. Does this seem like it would work for your teachers in the meantime?

Thanks!
